Market for inferior and second wools rather flatter.

MONTEVIDEO.

The loss of horned cattle in the Banda Oriental in the year 1879 is marked at half a million head, and it is this sweeping disaster that swells the Montevidean export of dry hides last year to figures before unknown, and completely surpassing the dry hide export of the Argentine Republic. The figures stand so.

Dry hide export to the United States in the year 1879—

Montevideo.....	844,395
Arg. Republic....	720,198

If the shoemakers of the United States and Europe will have to complain of the inferiority of River Plate leather made from epidemia hides, at least the hide export houses of Montevideo can boast of a trade revival in their line unknown to that port since the days when President Latorre went from house to house through that city, first as repartidor of paper cigars, and secondly as repartidor of our honored colleague the Siglo, in the days of Vaillant, its founder.

We found Montevideo, on last Sunday morning, after an absence of a year and two months, much recovered from the depression of 1878; more people in the streets, more ships in the harbour, more steamers anchored in the roads, tramway cars filled with passengers, and a busy stir about the place which, spite of its being Sunday morning, was palpable on all sides.

The Plaza Independencia, or better still, the Plaza General Latorre, is, without exception, the finest square in all South America. If President Latorre could show nothing further for his Administration than this magnificent square, he has left to his countrymen an imperishable monument of what a good Ruler can effect in these countries with a little decision of character tempered with patriotism. This noble square has cost the Banda Oriental nil; and if we knocked down the old Recoba with its Moorish arch, and threw the Plaza Victoria and the old Plaza 25 de Mayo into one, it still would not be as large as the new Plaza Independencia of Montevideo, which on a Sunday presents a most grotesque aspect, owing to the Government allowing the chacreros of the suburbs to sell fruit and vegetables, strewn on the ground, up to 10 a.m., after which hour all vanishes, like the old fort and market which once stood on the Plaza site. We have nothing in Buenos Ayres to rival the pretty sight of the Canary and Italian women, all dressed in clean Sunday cotton dresses, selling the vegetables etc. scattered over the Plaza. In Asuncion, Paraguay, there is the same species of market 'ouvert,' but the women there present a still more romantic appearance, as they only wear the white chemise, or what they call in Europe the 'chiton.' The magnificent new Government-house in the Plaza will, when finished, say three months from now, be the finest building in Montevideo; with its grand Corinthian columns, it looks like a court-house or a wing of the Bank of Ireland, Dublin. The place has a history of its own: The site was bought by Esteves, who, due to vicissitudes, worked at levelling the very plaza before his own mansion; he paid for it 75,000 pats. gold, spent on the edifice close on 200,000 pats. gold and then had to pass it over to the River Plate Bank for 110,000 pats. gold. Mr. Weldon, the talented manager of the Bank, handled it well, for he sold it to the Government for 120,000 gold National dollars, receiving payment from the Government at the rate of 5000 National gold dollars per month. Alongside this stately pile is the Montevidean Lottery establishment, whose profits support all the various charitable institutions of the town, and facing the Government House, on the opposite side of the square, the grand Hotel Papini lifts its colossal head. The glorious Calle 18 Julio, one of the finest highways on this or any other Continent, is the Champs Elysees of Montevideo, and, with the pillar in the Plaza Ayacucho, reminds one of Paris. Every house and shop in this magnificent boulevard is rented (let people say what they may of Montevidean depression) and the sidewalks and tram-cars were filled with people.

A Government reformatory school, on the same principle as the Artane Christian Brothers' Reformatory, Dublin, has been erected since last we visited the Mount, and adorns this beautiful street; here hundreds of boys taken off the streets are taught some useful trade, and instead of being reared soldiers or gauchos are turned out carpenters or shoemakers. Alongside is a large glass-blowing establishment where bottles for the Buenos-Ayrean breweries of Biekert and Hammer and Peltzer are manufactured by boys of the Reformatory School, both establishments being maintained and supported by the Latorre Government which is felt by thousands to be so irksome, that but for the strong, iron rule and the three regiments of soldiers in the town, it would be overturned to-morrow by a revolution. The fall in the value of real estate, house property and quinta property along the Union Road far surpasses the fall in Buenos Ayres; a beautiful house and quinta, with say 50 yards on the Union Road, 100 yards deep, and house of twelve or fourteen rooms, would hardly fetch 5000 gold dollars, and places have been sold at auction for less. Rents are equally down. Talk of the low rents of Belgrano or Quilmes; from what we gathered from quinta friends in our pleasure trip, the rents in Montevideo are fifty per cent cheaper. The city rivals Buenos Ayres for tramway lines. Two companies run their cars along the Union Road, and at that point a third runs down to the beach at Buceo and Pocitos, coming back into town at the Custom House. The splendid sea shore is within fifteen minutes tramway ride of the Hotel Oriental, which is an immense advantage over dear old Buenos Ayres.

We walked on Sunday evening along the shore from the Buceo to Pocitos (a fifteen minutes' stroll), and found only one English family at the Buceo. The old preserved-tongue factory of Mr. James Bell, deceased, is in ruins, as also the once jolly quarters where half the English clerks of Montevideo held a Bachelors' Hall. The Buceo is indeed in ruin, yet the waves beat as gloriously on its sandy shore as when the wealth and fashion and beauty of Montevideo whiled away the hours listening to the breakers' roar.

There is so much to write about Montevideo that it is impossible to compress into an article all the news down there. The worst Santa Rosa was nothing to the storm on the evening of our departure. To get to the Villa del Salto from the old Mole was worse than half-a-dozen of Bays of Biscay. Travelling for pleasure is at times attended with more inconvenience than travelling on business—at least so we found it, as, drenched through and through, we boarded Captain Morse's steamer. During the night the storm grew worse, and the rain came down in torrents, and the waves made a clean sweep over the Villa del Salto's bows. Morse was up all night watching, whilst many of his passengers were up all night praying; but, true to time and good luck, we arrived at Montevideo on Sunday morning, to the no small astonishment of the Montevideans, who thought that no steamer would have dared to come down on such a night.

General Latorre, although he has surrendered the reins of Government, is still in Montevideo, and the strong arm of his Government is felt in quarters where complaints are loudest. In certain circles there is, no doubt, great poverty, owing to the phalanx of public employees dismissed from service, but the country could not support such a staff, and the only alternative left has been embraced. Latorre is, of course, blamed for everything, but the new Plaza and the Reformatory School and his regular monthly payment of the public debt will always secure to him the verdict of every upright and honest person who visits his smiling, yet half-ruined land.

OFFICIAL RECEPTION

On Monday Her Majesty's new Minister Resident at Montevideo, the Honble Edmund Monson, presented his credentials to the Vice-President of the Uruguayan Republic, Dr. Vidal. The President's carriage conveyed the new Minister from the Hotel Oriental to the Government House where a guard of honour of Infantry of the Line was drawn up, and paid the usual honours to the representative of Great Britain.

Mr. Kinch, Captain O'Morse of the steamer Villa del Salto and Messrs. Theobald, Hughes and Salmon accompanied the new Minister into the Audience Hall: H.M. popular Vice-Consul, Mr. Lemmn was also present, in full official costume, sword, cocked-hat etc. In the street a large crowd assembled, and we noticed bank managers, leading brokers, editors, scientists, railway managers, tramway men and shipbrokers in the thickest of it.

When the usual preliminaries were concluded the Hon. Mr. Monson addressed Dr. Vidal as follows:—

"M. le President,

"Her Majesty the Queen, my august Sovereign, has been graciously pleased to appoint me to represent her as Resident Minister in the Oriental Republic of Uruguay, and I have the honour to hand Y.E. my credentials as such.

"In confiding this mission to me Her Majesty ardently desires to give a fresh proof of her friendly feelings towards the Government of which Y.E. is the worthy chief, and her sincere wish to preserve the amicable relations happily existing between Great Britain and this Republic.

"I eagerly seize the present opportunity to assure Y.E. that in fulfilling the duties which Her Majesty has imposed on me, I feel certain I shall meet with the fullest co-operation from Y.E. personally as well as from your Government, and the benevolent support of the community at large.

"I shall spare no personal effort to carry out faithfully the instructions of my sovereign and do my utmost to develop political and commercial relations which, with care and energy, cannot fail to be highly beneficial to the interests of both countries."

Vice-President Vidal replied:—

"M. le Ministre,

"My Government has always considered friendly international relations as of the first importance, as the basis of a loyal foreign policy, and I congratulate myself that it has fallen to my lot to receive from your hands the credentials by which Her Majesty the Queen, your august Sovereign, has been pleased to appoint you as her Resident Minister in this Republic.

"My deep satisfaction on the present occasion is all the greater from your being the Envoy of a nation which is united to the Republic by traditional ties which date from the first moments of its political emancipation, and which are strengthened by important commercial interests.

"I thank Her Majesty for this new proof of cordial friendship and I beg of you to convey these my sentiments to her, assuring you that you may count securely on every assistance from us in the discharge of your mission."

In the evening the British Minister gave a grand banquet in the Hotel Oriental, aptly to celebrate the 'entente cordiale' which has been so happily inaugurated.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Nice cool weather and a fair supply of not too exciting news were the main features yesterday. In English circles more news from Cabul is eagerly looked for, as it is now some time since we had a telegram about affairs there. Everybody is talking about the splendid Immigration returns for the month of December—5800 souls, the highest figure ever reached in one month since emigrating Italy first turned its attention to the R. Plate. So far this month the arrivals give promise of keeping the ball rolling, and that Mr Dillon will have a pleasant New Year's Gift in 1881 for the new President of the Republic.

We had a visit yesterday from an English subscriber in the Interior who is going to try his fortune in Nebraska as a farmer, in spite of the fate which Mr Samson records is meted out to agriculturists by the graziers of that fine country.

We feel pleasure in saluting our esteemed ex-colleague Dr Zeballos, the distinguished explorer, who has just returned from a long tour in the far South. He reports the frontiers all right and the report that the Indians were again giving trouble in that quarter as all bunkum and balderdash.

We wish to remind the subscribers to the Scotch Church that the General Meeting comes off to-day, at 2 o'clock, in the School Room attached to the church.

We hear that the materials for the new Mint will be here 'sin falta' in the merry month of May. Good news this for the gold and silver miners in the provinces.

The Nihilists will 'do for' the Czar of all the Russians yet, if his stubborn advisers do not allow him to grant a Free Constitution to his people, as it is said he is personally inclined to do. She latest news from St. Petersburg is of the arrest of a man found prowling about the Winter Palace with plans for bowling it up with dynamite. Autocratic government is not a pleasant occupation these times.

It was rumoured yesterday that a well known merchant of this market has won the big prize (£100,000) in the Madrid Christmas Lottery in its entirety. Buenos Ayres is really the spoiled child of Fortune in the way of lottery prizes, but then she spends such a lot of money on tickets, which could all be kept here for the support of our hospitals but for the unhappy thought of abolishing the old Buenos Ayres Lottery which occurred to our legislators some years ago.

We recommend the perusal of a capital article in yesterday's Courrier on the wheat production of this country. The writer estimates the yield of this harvest at 3 million hectolitres, two for consumption and seed and one for export. Some very interesting facts are given. All over the world the consumption of bread has largely increased within the past thirty years, even where, as in France, the population is stationary. People work harder now-a-days and must eat more to keep up the steam. In Rosas's time Porteños lived on 'puchero' and 'dulce' washed down with 'mate,' but they don't do so now. Our colleague urges the Provincial Bank to do now for the agriculturists what it did for the sheepfarmers; lend them money to develop wheat-growing, as it did to the latter to develop wool-growing.

A basket shop in Calle Rivadavia took fire on Monday and five of the Bomberos nearly lost their lives from the dense smoke in trying to extinguish the flames. The officer in command smashed a hole in the roof and let out the smoke, and then the flames were mastered. The bill to pay is 40,000 $m/c. The culprit in the case is a peon who set the baskets on fire because his master would not give him leave to go to a masquerade ball.

The Department of Agriculture has sent to Havanna for 20 kilos of the best tobacco seed to be had there, to plant in different parts of the Interior.

The Nacion does not believe a word of the conspiracy to send the Dictator of Peru to the next world without benefit of clergy, as Riva Aguero, said to be the chief of the plot, is a blue-blooded Peruvian of old family and large fortune and one of the most 'culto' men in the country. Our colleague says that our excellent Lord Mayor, Mr Guerrico, might as well be supposed capable of offering 20,000 pats to get a man shot as Mr Aguero.

Whew! When Nilson and Gayarre appeared in Faust at the Theatre Royal, Madrid, on the first night the new Queen attended the opera, as high as 1250 m/c was paid for a single seat in the orchestra stalls! This approaches London and St. Petersburg.

The bull-fight at Montevideo on Sunday was an appalling fiasco owing to native bulls being employed. Enough money to pay for cleaning the horses was not taken at the doors. People wont go to these disgusting exhibitions any more unless Spanish bulls are put in the ring, as the home-reared bulls all belong to the Peace Society, in fact are downright cowards, and cannot be made to fight.

There is terrible news from Tucuman; the town of Calalao del Valle has been swept away by an inundation, and most of its inhabitants (Indians) have perished. The Tribuna suggests a public subscription to relieve the survivors.

The recent demolition of the plaster statue of General Belgrano is keeping the fashionable suburb which bears his name in a terrible ferment; even politics are forgotten for the fight about the statue. A new statue is spoken of, as not even Michael Angelo could restore the old one, the Vandals who pulled it down having not only 'sat on his 'ed' but punched it into little bits.

A poor Italian woman living in Calle Venezuela died of grief a few days ago at parting from her only daughter on the occasion of the latter's marriage. The loving mother helped to array her child in the bridal dress, but was sad and silent till the girl approached to ask her blessing before going to the church when she fell to the ground with a moan and when raised from the floor was dead.

The Dolores papers report that a lady of that town was nearly thrashed to death by her two daughters last week, because she reprehended one of them for unseemly conduct. The young viragos had the old lady on the ground and were kicking her and jumping on her when their father and brother appeared on the scene and put a stop to the performance. Nice, pleasant wives these playful young creatures will make some day for the wights unfortunate enough to get them. A couple of Tartars might, however, suit them to a T.

We congratulate our excellent colleague, La Prensa de Belgrano, on the state of the editorial weather in that quarter. Our contemporary says that it is 'raining new subscribers' out there, and we hope the weather won't change for a month of Sundays. We had a very heavy shower of the same agreeable kind ourselves last month. Perhaps it was the shower of the Prensa's new subscribers that knocked down the Belgrano statue. The average weight of a sound regular-paying subscriber is about 12 stone, and a shower of them would demolish the Colossus of Rhodes.

Dr. Rawson has sent in his resignation as candidate for Congress: it will be accepted and General E. Mitre named in his stead. This settles a slight party animosity amongst the many friends of the General.

The coloured gentlemen of B. Ayres have addressed a note to our friend, Hector Varela, protesting against a paragraph which appeared in his paper, referring to their exclusion from the Skating Rink. They have received a generous and noble reply in the columns of the Porteño.

A collision occurred betweeu two young men at the 'sortie' from the last Variedades masked ball: one has been severely wounded and is not expected to live. This is the third event of the kind since the ball season opened.

President Prado, when leaving Guayaquil, issued a manifesto declaring he left Peru for patriotic motives. H.E. leaves for Europe in order to settle certain matters which have been unsuccessfully lying in the hands of certain commissioners. No doubt this refers to the vain attempts made at buying ironclads and armaments.

Masked balls are in the ascendant; Barracas and Tandil have opened their saloons to the light fantastic steps of Terpsichore and her suite.

In Cuba the locusts, not grasshoppers, are so plentiful, according to an evening colleague, that when they settle down on the soil the trees disappear as if by enchantment. This is a bad state of affairs.

Fray Bentos has been the scene of a terrible murder. Two men picked a quarrel in an almacen, and a funeral was seen wending its way from the almacen to the cemetery next day.

The railway between the Cuñapiru gold mines and San Pablo, in the Banda Oriental, is progressing quickly, and will probably be completed before the end of next April. A great deal is expected from this enterprise.

Some Continental papers have taken a paragraph from a Russian paper most insulting to the German fair sex. The paragraph is too vulgar to be reproduced, and reveals a low mind and a want of good taste on the part of the writer that will make him, no doubt, contemptible in the eyes of all. German women are as handsome, as gifted and as 'spirituelles' as the rest of the fair sex.

We have been favoured with a plan of the Exhibition to come off this year in the Plazas Victoria and Mayo. The plan is nicely got up, and, to judge from it, the buildings are tasteful and on the light 'Renaissance' style. Buenos Ayres has the lion's share in the arrangements. This Show will, no doubt, eclipse the last one at Cordova, which is still fresh in the minds of many.

Dr. Fischer, of the German Imperial Post-office, has compiled statistics of the 'Postage of the World.' He has only got as far as 1873 with the letters, of which three thousand three hundred millions, or 9¼ millions daily, were despatched in that year. In 1877 130,000,000 of telegraphic despatches, or 355,000 daily, were sent. More than one-third of the telegraphic messages are on private concerns. Every country with the faintest smear of civilization uses Postal Cards.

A married couple, living in Calle Rivadavia, had a miraculous escape during the storm on Saturday night. Whilst preparing to go to bed the roof fell in and the floor gave way beneath their feet. It is incredible how they managed to emerge from the 'debris.' Thanks to the lightning which illuminated the desolate scene, they found their way out. The husband was slightly injured.

'The Quiet Rambles of a Young Naturalist' by Mr E. W. White, F.Z.S., of which we publish another chapter to-day, are attracting much notice and have provoked many complimentary comments. Our young friend is an enthusiastic lover of Dame Nature, and his descriptive powers are graphic enough to satisfy his mistress, whose charms gain by his spirited telling.

Governor Tejedor and Minister Balbin visited the Riachuelo Port Works yesterday, accompanied by Messrs N. Uribellarea, John Drysdale, S. Unzue, P. Agote, Lavalle Silveira and Huergo. The Governor expressed himself as greatly pleased at what he saw.

Charles White, a servant of the British Hospital, was arrested last week for stealing a ring and $100 m/c from a patient.

THE QUIET RAMBLES OF A YOUNG NATURALIST.

(By E. W. White, F.Z.S.)
(No. 2)

We embark with our Lares in the shape of wine and caña, the latter as a present for Mrs. Crusoe, who we were told was inordinately fond of it. The dogs are made to swim, and very bravely and strongly they battle with the breakers and accomplish the half mile as quick as we. On landing, the change is at once remarkable; we seem to burst into the tropics: lofty palms overshadowing all other trees, the lesser ones struggling to free themselves from the terrible hug of the parasites which mount to their summits and throw off oceans of vivid flowers to testify their joy of conquest, then, in the exuberance of their mirth, twisting and interlacing with their fellows, suddenly let fall their arms to the ground, take root and become sober. These ropes, for such they resemble, some in fantastic forms, others perfectly perpendicular descending from a height of 50 to 80 feet, suggest the use for which they are probably intended, and instinctively we look around for the cousin of man! Here he is not! but in his place we find the Puma, Jaguar, Cayman, Carpincho, Gato del Monte and the more peaceful and elegant Pavo del Monte, various species of woodpeckers, butterflies of brilliant hues and beetles innumerable. If above us be a tangled mass, what is it below? The convolvulus maximus with bryony and a thousand other creepers study to form nets to entrap the unwary from invading their domain of splendid scented bouquets. Straight from the snows of the Andes, the scene to me was exquisite.

The fruits of this island are delicious and many of them wild, one in particular, jet black of the size of a cherry but with a kernel like a nispero, most luscious and from which Crusoe extracts a by no means despisable wine. We now present ourselves to the ancient lady of the isle and her joy was inexpressible when she beheld the coveted bottle; she declared her alliance with Europeans by descent although the old sinner was as black as a coal. After a breakfast of chewed charqui with abundance of vegetables, washed down with our own wine, we took a stroll through the island, returning with many bruises, scratches and sun-blisters but our bag enriched with much interesting to the naturalist; in the two short hours of our absence our hostess had drained the caña bottle and begged us as a favor to return on the morrow with a fresh supply. Our trip cost us nothing but pleasure save the small fee to Charon, who, on our wish to return, was found asleep at the other end of the island. The people here live by cutting wood and forwarding it down the river, but as the loaded lighter has been anchored for a year and a half without being able to shoot the rapids, it cannot be a very profitable business; and yet as their wants are few and nature provides them gratis with fish and food in abundance, besides vegetables, wine, fruit and tobacco, their lives are far from miserable.

After the delay of an hour, the boatman made his appearance and bidding adieu to Madame, who was now in a state of decided incapacity and incoherence, we pushed off, the dogs following as before. When about half way across, the latter which had struck out too far down the stream, became entangled in the rapids and we gave them up for lost and our joy only equalled theirs when on landing the faithful creatures came bounding towards us. Our horses were ready and we reached the station exactly at sunset, after spending one of the most enjoyable days I ever experienced.

Two leagues below the spot where we crossed to the island lies what is called the Salto Grande, and to this on another occasion we directed our steps. I had expected to see another Niagara from the descriptions given, but great was my disappointment on viewing for the first time these falls: they extend for about a mile longitudinally and consist first on the northern limit of a line of boulders which cause a perpendicular descent of about 25 feet, then a succession of rocks, sometimes of very fantastic shape, Pelion on Ossa, amongst which the river surges and eddies. The reef spreads completely across the river, which is about a quarter of a mile broad, so that it is possible in some states of the tide to pass on foot from Entre Rios to the Banda Oriental, a difficult nay dangerous undertaking. An island formed of huge boulders occupies the centre on which a few trees obtain sufficient nutriment to exist. Here are found splendid agates, blocks of Rock crystal and other precious stones, and there lie naked on the blistering rock those mementos of Garibaldi's unsuccessful expedition in 1840 when, to cross the rapids, he was obliged to throw overboard ten eighteen-pounder iron guns.

By contemplating it, however, the scene grows in magnitude and sublimity; the vast disintegrating force of water at work for so many ages to accomplish such disruption; the blackened serried massive boulders; the ever-flowing tide, at one time gliding smoothly, at another seething, eddying, struggling—the antithesis of rest and force: those gaping yet silent iron-mouths; the knowledge of what that harmless looking stream can do when, as sometimes, rising to the height of fourteen feet in one single hour, it sweeps everything before it to swift destruction; these and kindred thoughts contribute to inspire the mind with restless musings, and the imagination with allegorical pictures: 'tis the Skid at Balton Abbey, only on a grander scale, and awaits a future Wordsworth to immortalize it in another 'White Doe of Rylestone.'

As Concordia and Salto are twin sisters, and as from almost every point of the one the glistening structures of the other are visible across the river, the traveller must needs visit both, especially as a small but commodious and speedy steamer plies hourly between them. He will find, however, considerable points of difference in the two towns as well as in their inhabitants. In Concordia, 6000 inhabitants, there is more enterprising industry but perhaps less appreciation of education than in Salto, 9000 inhabitants; whilst the former has its tramway and abundance of coaches, neither the one nor the other is found in Salto, and yet in Salto their main street, a mile and a half long, has just been beautifully macadamized, and their fine stores stocked to the roof with all kinds of merchandise pertainly indicate a desire to do business, but customers are scarce and the shopkeepers avow that they do not cover expenses. Salto is built more compactly and occupies less ground than Concordia and its buildings have some pretension; Conoordia is a straggliag town with no architectural pretensions whatever; and yet both are picturesque.

The hotels (!!) in Concordia bear no comparison with those in Salto; the Hotel Concordia in the latter city is superior, and the Hotel La Paz, in its cooking and wines quite equal to anything in Buenos Aires.

LATEST FROM PARIS.

(Our own Correspondent.)

Dec. 12th.

Radounat was a head clerk in the Ministry of Agriculture, with a salary of 4,000 fr. a year; he had no other income; is married and has a family. He was able to give himself the luxury of a mistress—a Dutch widow fat, fair, and forty; in addition, he was a subscriber to the Opera Comique, and his breakfast and dinner parties had a certain reputation. How did he accomplish so many miracles? He and his 'chef,' one Porlier, had an annual sum of 17,000 frs. placed at their disposal for organising agricultural shows; when an employé was to be paid, he signed a blank receipt, which was filled up for whatever fancy amount the immediate wants of Radounat required. It was thus that he provided for Polier's extras. This was vulgar embezzlement, but it assumes another aspect, when as Radounat asserted, his system prevails throughout the governmental service; that it was rather hard to select him for a scapegoat, although acting as he did since 1856. And the authorities did not deny his assertion. 'Bachshish' is then an institution under another name. Pending the Empire it was more voracious than the Sultan's palace. Not content with thus defrauding the State, and bamboozling the Audit Office—which foreigners are reputed to envy like the Magistracy—Radounat accepted little presents in kind, an infallible way to commence friendships, from the exhibitors, which he passed on to his mistress to sell. He was sentenced to 8 years imprisonment. Frequenters of the Ledoyen restaurant in the Champs Elysees, may remember the superb dame who sat at the receipt of customs a few years ago. This was the mistress who left that position to set up as a dyer in the Rue de Havre, in Paris. A prudent mistress ever insists on being started in business—in the glove, perfumery, millinery or faney article line; a walk down any street will reveal to the observer how numerous is her class. Radounat's mistress kept an account of all the moneys she received from him under the head of "Menage." Indeed the demi-mondians are well known to keep their accounts by single and double entry. It was not so in the days of Mimi.

During the trial of Geoffroy a few years ago, for shooting a creditor so as to definitely close the account, that coxcomb admitted he had for his mistress, his mother-in-law and that he was father of his own sister-in-law. This revelation tell like a thunderbolt on his wife—who has since become a maniac, and her father. Now during the trial of the policeman, Prevost, for murdering, skinning, and cutting up his two victims, a laundress was cited as a witness. She is now married and mother of several children: she swore, that before her marriage, she had been Prevost's mistress, a peccadillo she had concealed from her husband, and who, on her returning home, kicked her into the street. People ask in the name of humanity why raise the veil on such pasts, and break the lives of persons for whom ignorance would be bliss.

This winter's severity will destroy all taste for subjects Artic, for many years to come. Equatorial Africa is in season. No one can tell the whereabouts of the unfortunate gentleman who promised a lecture demonstrating the certainty of J. G. Bennett's expedition reaching the North Pole. On the night of the 9th the cold was 24 degrees c below zero, the greatest cold registered at Paris since the invention of the thermometer. People think of nothing else but the cold and the poor. It is tacitly understood that business must lie over till a more convenient season. The reigning fashions are blue noses, wrinkled brows, and bodies compulsorily doing the Grecian bend. The streets are next to impassable and recall the corduroy roads of a western state; furrows were made in the snow by the scavengers to allow the horses' feet to have a grip; the consequence is, the roadway is a series of petrified waves, and transport by vehicles a succession of jolts that must in the long run terminate in disjointings. The Seine is frozen, and the banks of the river are mountains of snow, being the depot for what is carted off the streets. Desolation reigns here as supreme as in any sledge-drive towards the North Pole. A few wild fowl have come up from the sea to seek shelter near the Pont Neuf, alongside the laid up frigate, Frigorifique. As all sport is illegal pending the existence of snow, the sole ammunition employed against the gulls and the teal is composed of snow-balls and a stone inside. The Morgue only contains on its slabs one corpse, that of a little child whose body was picked up as it floated down the Seine. Crowds flock to look through the bars of the charnel house, as if it were a summer's day, or the suds scene in Zola's Assommoir.

Never expecting a temperature equal to the present, the city has been taken unawares. The clearing of the streets is limited to spades and pickaxes; in Vienna and London there are machines. Having invented machinery for making ice, we now require some for dissolving it. Sledges are more than luxuries, but runners are rapidly being improvised for coal-drags, milk-vans, and butcher's carts. We are becoming quite Russian exteriorly; the open places, 'where a' the winds do blow,' have immense braziers of coke that burn day and night, and that are largely patronised by those whose avocations are outside doors; they have also a large circle of dogs that fight for a good place, just as their owners. The gas-meters being frozen, many houses are deprived of the means of being heated as well as of being lighted. Gentlemen now wear the fur 'toque' as well as ladies, and an extra pair of stockings, but drawn over the boots. This is the most certain protection against a fall; it suggests club feet but it prevents broken bones. The directors of the Zoo gardens might give the seals and white bears a holiday and so complete the Lapland landscape of the capital.

The gold market rules firm, but dull, and there is a difference of twenty cents between the cash price and the price for February which shows the real state of the market, there not being the least chance of any cheaper gold until after the Presidential elections. The town was rife with all sorts of political rumours, which, perhaps, it would be imprudent to publish, but we cannot avoid noting how political excitement affects the gold market. Gold opened and closed at 31.80, and for the end of the month at 31.85.

Cedulas rule firm at 82 cash, and for the end of the month prices opened at 81½, closing at 82, and for the end of March 81½.

Nat. Bank Shares more active and some new buyers in the market, prices closed for the end of January at 60⅜.

The English gun boat Swallow is in from Cape of Good Hope, but as she had a voyage of 48 days her advices are not fresh.

The Allan steel steamer Buenos Ayrean has brought out 3000 tons of cargo from Bordeaux, she is said to be the largest steel steamer afloat, and is a larger vessel everyway than the La France, which hitherto was the biggest steamer trading with the River Plate; she will be up here about Thursday morning.

The sale of 1500 hides Laguna de los Padres at 203 m/c per pesada is reported.

It was generally said on 'Change that there was better news to-day about hides from the U. States, but we saw no telegram. One of our leading German merchants received a telegram dated Paris last night, but there was nothing of general interest in it.

To-day one of our wealthy Irish estancieros paid the last instalment to the Government on an estancia of 12 square leagues in the Nueve de Julio; when he bought the land a few years ago, his land was the very farthest estancia out on that line. To-day there are numerous estancias stretching 20 leagues further out; the proprietor is Mr James Gaynor, of the Capilla.

At the South Market this morning 500 arr. fine wool was sold by Imaz at 114 m/c, the demand for fine wool is as strong as ever, both here and in Montevideo, and the advices from Europe continue favorable.

The capital question was much discussed on 'Change and great importance is attached to the question; the opinion on the Bolsa is that Rosario will this session of Congress be declared the capital.

The resignation of Dr Rawson from the political candidateship offered him is regretted by all who know the abilities of this distinguished statesman.

The steamer Rio Uruguay has obtained permission to tow up a pilot boat on her trip to Curumba upon certain conditions; the pilot boat takes up surplus cargo for the steamer.

Mr Dillon's letter to the Minister is the very best of state papers; by it we learn that last month the arrivals of European immigrants at this port amounted to the splendid figure of 5,890 souls. This beats our very best years, and points upwards.

Gold at afterhours ruled very firm, and in fact some brokers said there were no sellers on time. Cedulas at 5 o'clock ruled very hard, buyers at 82¼ cash.

Freights rule all round now at 30s/ and 10 per cent Antwerp, and 30 francs and 10 per cent Havre. Large engagements made to-day for Buenos Ayrean, Paxo and Porteño for Havre and for Dunkerque; engagements at 35 francs and 10 per cent.

Exchange nothing doing. Rates quoted at 4⅜-⅝ London, 5.26 Antwerp, and 5.25 Paris.

During the storm an English barque struck the pier at Punta Lara and damaged her bow.

In our telegraph column will be found the latest from Antwerp. The market for inferior wools flatter. It is thought that the news of the shipment of 60,000 bales, up to the present affects the market. There is also a very important change in Antwerp in the rules for receiving wool from Jan. 1st. 3½ per cent. against buyers on hoops and 5 kilo bale tare against 3 per cent., formerly the tare, and 2 per cent. discount.

It was reported on 'Change that the great prize, or a portion of it, of Madrid lottery, £ 60,000, had fallen to Don Guillermo Matti.

Owing to the absence of Dr. Saenz Pena, the President of the Committee of Constitutional affairs, nothing has been done about the Bank Directors as yet.

The gold market this afternoon presented great change when compared with yesterday, and the change was attributed to political influences. It appears that none of the banks are now discounting.

A train on the Southern Railway was stopped to-day at Ferrari station by the police, to arrest a woman who had run away from her husband. When the train arrived in town it was discovered that the police had taken the wrong woman.

The purchase of M Sole's barraca on the Riachuelo by Don Emilio Fernandez is considered one of the greatest bargains of the day, and, as was observed on 'Change, property down there has a far greater future than even in Calle Florida or San Martin. We heard a German gentleman say that if Mr Fernandez wishes he could get to-day 100,000 m/c. for his purchase.

Circulars were sent round to-day announcing the new ship broking firm of Rossi & Johnson Mr Rossi is son of Mr Rossi, the well known Argentine ship broker, and Mr Johnson is a Swede, having relations with the Swedish shipping trade of the Plate. Mr Schwartz acts as agent for the new firm in Montevideo and Mr Thompson in Rosario.

The Villa del Salto arrived up this morning crowded with passengers and laden with cargo. She brought up all the immigrants of the s.s. Buenos Aircan, 160, and over 150 first class passengers, whilst her holds and tween decks were filled to their utmost with coffee and other cargo; Capt. Morse seems to hold the lion's share of the river trade, and well he deserves it, as a more attentive commander is not to be found in the Plate. At 10 o'clock p.m. ices are served round to all the first class passengers, and the dinner on board is as good as at the Cafe de Paris.

The London & River Plate Bank received fifty thousand pounds in sovereigns by the steamer Cotopaxi; this gold was landed at Montevideo.

The sale of 5000 salted hides Luro's 65 lbs at 53 rls is reported, delivered till February.

Preparations are being made at Zarate to accommodate the ammunition &c. expected from Europe for the National Government.

The briskest trade in Montevideo for some months is in arsenic, required by barraqueros to preserve the large number of epidemia hides. This bears out Lord Beaconsfield's speech at Guildhall, the briskness of business hangs on chemicals, and strange to say the largest and wealthiest merchant in Montevideo is said to be the house of Demarchi & Co.

The discovery of the false scales for the weighing of coal cargoes by the Municipality is likely to open up the history of many short cargoes, which to the disgrace of our commerce has been so long tolerated. We hear of a delivery last year where 21 tons were short, which will now be demanded of the owners of the false scales.

Messrs. Peters & Hall in their circular for the mail give the following important data:—

We have received by the mail from Liverpool the following important statement of coal shipments to the River Plate under date of December 8th, 1879:—

	B. Aires.	M. Video.	Rosario.
	Tons	Tons	Tons
Tyne &c. ..(6)	—	—	—

Newport ...(1)	670	—	—
Scotland... (2)	—	700	—
Gross total..(19)	14,117 tons.

"Liverpool, Dec. 3d, 1879.

"There has been a fair demand for skins during the past fortnight at firm prices, and the sales amount to 200 bales. We now quote 1½d per lb. for average full-woolled matadero Buenos Aires, which we think safe for sometime to come, the tendency of the market for both wool and skins being in favor of the importers.

"There has been no stock of B. Aires or Montevideo wool to test the market lately, but values of all kinds of fine wools are hardening both in the English and Continental markets, and at the London sales the value of Capes, which compete more directly with River Plate wools, has advanced 5 to 10 o/o since the opening a fortnight ago.

"Yours faithfully,

"Hammand & Mac Gregor."

"New York, Dec. 4th, 1879.

"Gentlemen,

"Horse Hair remains very firm, but we have no transactions to report owing to the absence of stock in first hands. We quote good mixed River Plate 20c. per lb. Fair to good 19c. Ordinary to fair 18 to 18½c. Rio Grande 19 to 19½c.

"Hide Cuttings in good demand at 4 to 4½c. No stock.

"Horns 12c. each for Rio Grande ox. 10c. tipless, and 3c. for cows.

"Bones. $25 per ton 2,000 lbs. for shin, and $22 to $23 for mixed.

"Bone Ash. Nominally $25 to $26 per ton on basis 70 o/o phosphate. Stock 400 tons.

"Nutria Skins in good demand at 40 to 42½c. per lb. for cutting skins, and 47½ to 50c. per lb. for dressing. Stock 15 bales.

"Feathers dull and nominal. Stock 75 cases. Good quality Patagonia and Indian tied $2.10 to $2.60, classified $3½ to $4½, Banda Oriental $3½ to $5 per lb.

"Boston as a Wool Market.—If the wool market continues to rule as active as of late until the first of January, and the receipts continue on an equally liberal scale, the quantity of wool which will have found a market in Boston will be equal to four-fifths of the entire wool crop of the United States. It is estimated that there were 36 millions sheep in 1878 in the U. States, which produced a total of 210 million pounds of wool. The receipts of wool of all kinds in Boston during the year 1879, at the present rate, will exceed those of last year by nearly 100,000 bales and bags, and will amount to over 410,000 bales and bags, or say 165 million pounds. The following table shows the total quantity of foreign wool brought into the U. States each year during the past decade:—

Dysentery, Cholera, Fever, Ague, Coughs, Colds, &c.
Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S
(Ex Army Medical Staff)
CHLORODYNE
IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. J Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's.—See Times, July 12th 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it at all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvelous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for coughs, consumption, bronchitis, asthma.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diptheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitations and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis &c.

Extracts from Medical Opinions.

The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport, that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in Cholera was Chlorodyne. See Lancet, Dec. 31st, 1864.

From A. Montgomery, Esq. late Inspector of Hospitals, Bombay. 'Chlorodyne is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgia, Asthma, and Dysentery. To it I fairly owe my restoration to health, after eighteen months' severe suffering, and when other remedies had failed.'

Dr. Lowe, Medical Missionary in India, reports (December 1865) that in nearly every case of Cholera in which Dr. J. Collin Browne's Chlorodyne was administered, the patient recovered.

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera. 'So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all cases.'

See leading article, Pharmaceutical Journal, August 1st, 1860, which states that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the inventor of Chlorodyne, that it is always right to use his preparation when Chlorodyne is ordered.

CAUTION. None genuine without the words 'Dr. J. Collis Browne' on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Pildoras Holloway
Las virtudes de esta admirable medicina son especialmente eficaces para expulsar de la Sangre toda impureza. En los casos de debilidad, ella es incomparable, al paso que cura radicalmente las Indigestiones, y los desordenes generales del Higado, del Estomago, y de los Intestinos, restableciendose, como por encanto, el vigor y la salud normal, dichas Pildoras remueven asimismo las dolencias que suelen afligir a las Mugeres al llegar estas a la edad critica.

Unguento Holloway
Este incomparable Balsamo sana los Males de Piernas y de Pecho, las Llagas Antiguas, y aun esas Ulceras cuyo orijen no conviene mencionar en un anuncio publico. Para todas las Erupciones cutaneas no hay remedio igual al Unguento Holloway, al que millares deben la salvacion tanto de sus Brazos y Piernas como de su existencia.

Antes de comprar, examinese con mucha cautela el Rotulo en el Bote o la Caja, para cerciorarse si esta la direccion de 533, Oxford Street, London, pues si no esta, entonces se trata de perpetrar un descarado engaño.

☞ Se invitan al as personas que sean defraudadas por los vendedores que expenden 'Las Pildoras y el Unguento de Holloway' falsificados para que se sirvan al comunicarme los pormenores, o inmediatamente hare formalizar procesos legales contra los Ofensores, y recompensare liberalmente a los Delatores por el trabaja que se tomen, comprometiendome a que no haya trascendencia de sus nombres.
